Cooke (William,) M. A. Enquiry into the Patriarchal and Druidical religion, temples, &c. being the substance of some letters to Sir Hildebrand Jacob, wherein the primaeval institution and universality of the Christian scheme is manifested; the principles of the Patriarchs and Druids are laid open and shown to correspond entirely with each other, and both with the doctrines of Christianity; the earliest antiquities of the British Islands are explained, and an account given of the sacred structures of the Druids; particularly the stupendous work of Abiry, Stone Henge, &c. in Wiltshire are minutely described. London 1755. in 4.

Domeſday book, containing a general ſurvey of England, made in the time of William the Conqueror; and is the moſt ancient record in the realm. —— 2 vol. fol.

Vol. 1. contains all the counties of England, except Durham, Cumberland, Weſtmoreland, and Northumberland. Vol. 2. contains the counties of Eſſex, Norfolk, and Suffolk. This ſurvey was begun by order of William the Conqueror in the year 1080, and finiſhed in 1086. It mentions how much arable land, paſture, meadow, and wood every man had; what was the extent and value of them in the time of Edward the Confeſſor, and at the time of making the ſurvey. Alſo what mills and fiſheries, and in ſome counties the number of freemen, ſocmen, villains, borders, ſervants, young cattle, ſheep, hogs, horſes, &c. in every town and manor, and to whom they belonged.

DO

This ſurvey, on account of its high authority, acquired the title of Domeſday Book, either from the alluſion to the ſentence pronounced at the Day of Judgment, from which there is no appeal; or, from the corruption of Domus Dei Book, a title given it, becauſe it had been depoſited in the King's Treaſury, in a place of the Church of Weſtminſter or Wincheſter, called Domus Dei.

different hand follow: 1. The burrow laws in Engliſh, with a preface. 2. The form of the Chamerlayne Ayre haldyne. 3. The forme of haldyne baron courts. 4. The ſtatuts of King Robert. 5. The buke of jugements de judicibus. MS. in fol. It appears from fol. 90. v. that this manuſcript was written per manum venerabilis viri G. H. It is difficult to ſay who this G. H. was, but the writing appears to be of the fourteenth century. This book was the property of Mr David Cockburn in the year 1502, as appears from fol. 102. from whence we may conclude, that it was much more ancient than that period: From a compariſon of the writing, this conjecture acquires additional ſtrength. This copy of the Regiam Majeſtatem differs in many places from the printed copies; as it contains a number of things chiefly relating to hiſtory and chronology, which are not to be found in other copies. The latter part of this volume was written, as already mentioned, by a different and unknown hand. Although both theſe parts are now bound together, they made formerly two diſtinct volumes.

——1. Regiam Majeſtatem, in Scots. 2. Quoniam attachiamenta. 3. Some notes from law books. 4. Various old laws not printed. 5. Statutes of K. Robert I. N. B. There are ſome here not printed, and ſome printed which are not here. 6. K. William's ſtatute of multures, and ſundry laws, ſome of which only are to be found among Robert I. laws. 7. Fourteen laws of K. David II. 8. Twelve laws of K. Alexander II. N. B. The 2d law mentions the names of many of the perſons who ſat then in parliament. 9. Laws of K. William, different from the printed. 10. Laws of the foreſt. 11. Seventy-four ſtatutes of K. James I. 12.

Statutes of K. James II. 13. The laws of the burrows. 14. The aſſyſe of bread. 15. The different tolls or cuſtoms of Scotland. 16. The chamerlayne air. 17. Statutes of gild. 18. Laws of ſhips. 19. Special ſtatutes. 20. Juges. 21. Statutes of Robert III. in Latin. 22. Proceſs for ſhawing halding. 23. Proceſs of purpreſture. 24. Form of falſing of domes. 25. Of remedy of domes given in abience of party. 26. De exceptionibus. 27. Leges Malcolmi Mackeneth. 28. Conſuetudines et claves curiarum. 29. The manner of halding baron courts. 30. The proces againſt wrangous occupiers of any ground. 31. Statutes for the marches by Earl William of Douglas, made in the year 1448, in 8. By a note immediately following the contents of this volume, we are told, that it was written before the 1500, but not before 1455: For, in that part intituled the manner of ſhawing of halding, the time of the ſeveral courts is 1455; ſo that it is probable it was written in that year. From page 206. to the end, is written by a different hand.
